All and singular that certain parcel or tract of land and premises situate, lying and being in the City of Ottawa, Province of Ontario, being composed of:

Lt 28, Pl 39; Vanier/Gloucester
PIN 04238-0022 (LT)

SCHEDULE "B"STATEMENT OF REASON FOR DESIGNATION

The Gamman House, 306 Cyr Avenue, is recommended for designation under Part IV of the Ontario Heritage Act as a building of cultural heritage value for historical and architectural reasons.

Nathaniel Gamman was born in Lowertown in 1848, making him a very early inhabitant of the region. In 1873 he purchased his property in Janeville, a small community centred on the Montreal Road. By 1877, the assessed value of the property had doubled, indicating that the house was built in the mid-1870s. He married Mary Ann Mulligan the same year that he purchased the lot and they had seven children. Gamman worked a variety jobs, including brick maker and janitor during his lifetime. He also served very briefly as a councillor in 1913. His life, family, and job history are typical of late 19th century working men.

The Gamman House is a one and a half storey, "L"-shaped, wood frame, mansard-roofed structure. There are gabled-dormers with finials punctuating the roofline. Fire insurance maps show that there was a long one storey addition to the rear of the building, but this feature has disappeared. Originally the front verandah extended the full width of the house, but at some point part of it was incorporated into the house as a bay window and later the remaining open portion of the structure was closed in. The building's heritage attributes include the wood siding, mansard roof, decorative wood details such as the pilasters and porch details, the finials, dentils and brackets. The large side yard also contributes to its character and should be preserved.

The front hall and the large room on the ground floor with its decorative wood and plaster details are included in this designation; the rest of the house is not.
