221 MARY ST. PORT PERRY

Description of Property – The residence at 221 Mary St. Port Perry is located in Peter Perry's "Old Scugog Village" on the north side of Mary Street between John and Perry Streets.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

The residence at 221 Mary St. has cultural heritage significance for being a good example of an early 20th century Arts & Crafts Bungalow, of which only a relative few were constructed in the Town of Port Perry. The home exhibits several of the classic defining characteristics of this early modern house style, but its structure tells the story of an earlier 19th century house which evolved over time, and how builders of the early 20th century recycled older buildings and materials to create an up-to-date residence.

Located one block south of the thriving commercial core of Queen St., this dwelling along with numerous other nearby heritage homes, helps define the historic residential character of Port Perry's earliest neighbourhood, planned by Peter Perry in 1848.

Description of Heritage Attributes

Key exterior and interior attributes that embody the heritage value of 221 Mary Street include its:

- irregular building footprint;
- local granite 19th century fieldstone, and early 20th century poured concrete foundation;
- one storey early 20th century bungalow form;
- large, enveloping overhanging roof with deep eaves and jerkin head gables;
- simple wooden eave brackets;
- wooden, two over two, and one over one, single hung windows and wooden storm windows;
- underlying original wooden clapboard exterior cladding;
- informal arrangement of single and banked window openings with solid wood lug-sills and casings;
- location of door openings;
- large exterior brick masonry chimney;
- cantilevered front porch roof;
- wooden classical front door surround;
- front gable wooden louvred gable vent;
