REASONS FOR DESIGNATION - QUAKER CEMETERY, MILL STREET, AJAX

The Quaker Burial Ground on Mill Street in Ajax, owned by the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers). It is the oldest cemetery in Ajax and one of the oldest in the former Pickering Township and inters many of the founding Quaker families of historic Duffins Creek (now Pickering Village). The site is located on the east side of Mill Street, south of Highway 2 (legally known as Concession 1, Part Lot 13).

Early information is to be found in the Will of Timothy Rogers, the earliest Quaker settler in Pickering Township. He donated the land for a Quaker Meeting House and Burial Ground. Rogers' prime concern was the establishment of Quaker settlements, first at Younge Street, Newmarket, then at Pickering.

In his Will, dated 1829, Rogers referred to the Burial Ground in Pickering and mentioned that his wife Sarah, his daughter Sarah, and his sons, John Wilde Rogers and John Emsley Rogers, and others were buried there.

In the late 18th and early 19th centuries graves in some Quaker Burial Grounds were not marked by gravestones. Thus, there are no markers for timothy Rogers or for any of the other persons mentioned in his Will. The earliest recorded date found on a gravestone on the Burial Ground is 1830. It marks were several of the Betts family are buried.

The Burial Ground is a reminder of the heritage and roots established by the first Quaker settlers early in the settlement of Pickering Township, a township now occupied by the town of Ajax and the City of Pickering.
