SCHEDULE "B"

Reasons for the designation of the Properties at Nos. 266, 268 and 270 Adelaide Street West.

The row housing at 266-270 Adelaide Street West is designated on architectural grounds. Built in 1892, this row of three brick houses, each with a rock-faced stone base, is an example of the Victorian Romanesque Revival style, rare in the context of the downtown area. The work of builder, Robert T. Brown, each unit is distinctive for a design individuality that is derived from a variety of features which provide unity in the Adelaide Street facade. Segmental and arch brick openings with decorative keystones, terracotta panels and fish-scale wall tiles, brick corbelling, oval windows, decorative glass transoms, recessed entrances and projecting gables on modillion blocks are architectural characteristics of importance.
