Reasons for Designation

Present Context

At the south-east corner of Aberdeen Avenue and Bay Street South stands the large, stately home erected in 1893-4 for Hamilton lawyer, P. M. Bankier.—Situatēd near the foot of the escarpment, this imposing late Victorian brick mansion overlooks the residential neighbourhood of Durand South, noted for its tree-lined streets and fine array of large, fashionable late 19th and early 20th century homes. 105 Aberdeen Avenue has a particularly commanding presence, attributable to the tower-like round bay of the front facade which is accentuated by the sloping site.

Architectural Significance

The house represents a grand version of the restrained Queen Anne style adopted for the larger homes built in Hamilton around the turn-of-the-century. Characteristic of this style are the solid, massive form; the asymmetrical composition with projecting bays and wings; the complex roof silhouette featuring dormers, gables and tall chimneys; and the restrained classical ornamentation. Originally, a deep verandah with coupled columns and a bracketed cornice extended the full width of the Aberdeen facade.

The dominant feature of the present house is the tall, projecting round bay with its conical roof, tall double-hung sash windows with single curved glass panes, and horizontal band of smaller windows beneath the bracketed cornice. The verandah and long, broken flight of stairs leading to the front entrance were removed in 1964, at which time the main entrance was relocated to the Bay Street facade and the original doorway bricked in.

Historical Significance

The house has been owned and occupied by the families of three prominent Hamiltonians, two of whom were successful entrepreneurs in the City's important knitting industry. The original owner, Patrick M. Bankier, who occupied the house for only four years, was a partner in the well-known Hamilton firm of lawyers, Crerar, Crerar and Bankier, from 1886 until his sudden death in 1899 at the age of 39. The house was purchased in 1919 by Robert R. Moodie, vice president of the J. R. Moodie Company (formerly the Eagle Knitting Co.) and was sold in 1935 to M. B. Holton, president of the Chapman-Holton Knitting Company, remaining in the ownership of this family [REDACTED] in 1988.

Designated Features

Important to the preservation of this house are the original features of the north, east and west facades, including the brick masonry walls with matching sandstone sills and lintels; the slate roof with its dormers and chimneys; the bracketed wooden cornice, and the original windows, most notably those of the front bay and several round-arched windows on the north and west facades.
