BY-LAW NUMBER 1-1987

SCHEDULE "A"

THOSE lands and premises located in the following municipality, namely in the Township of Lansdowne, in the County of Leeds, and being composed of Part of Lot 2, Concession 8 of the said Township of Lansdowne.

Reason for Designation:

The stone school at Long Point was built in 1862 on land purchased from Daniel O'Connor in Lot 2 of the 8th Concession of Lansdowne. The trustees for School Section No. 5 paid ten shillings for the land in 1853, but the details of getting the school built were not overcome until 1862. The final cost was $378. It is said that the stone came from the ridge along the road to Lyndhurst, in the 9th Concession, which is the same deposit that the stone for Lyndhurst Bridge came from. The previous school was a log structure on Lot 1 in the 8th Concession, near Richard Singleton's house.

The building is an arch-typical, one room, rural school house. It is built of variagated sandstone, laid randomly in very irregular courses. It is a simple rectangle with a low roof, in keeping with the tradition of using architecture of Classical influence for public buildings. The entrance is a single door centred on the east end, which faces the road. The six large windows with 6 over 6 double-hung sash, are placed symmetrically: two on each of the North and South walls, and one on each side of the entrance door. The west end is now blank, but there is an arch in the stone work indicating a former opening that was filled in with matching stone very early in the life of the building. The bellfry, which gives the building an Italianate influence, seems to be original, as does the flagpole. The vee-joint boards in the ceiling of the bellfry, are repeated in the front door (diagonally) and in the interior wainscot and ceiling. The gingerbread brackets, recently removed, at each corner of the bellfry, seem to be the only nonfunctional feature of the whole building. The wooden vestibule, which was added some time after the photo of 1888, is another typical feature of rural schools.

The building served various other functions besides the intended purpose. Anglican and Methodist church services were held there on alternate Sundays during the early years, and prayer meetings were occasionally held by a local eccentric and faith-healer named Arza Sherman. The school was the polling place at election times, and, after electricity came, it was used to show moving pictures on Friday nights in the winter. More details of its history can be found in the North Leeds Lantern of June, 1980, and in the Memory Turns the Dial by Madeline O'Connor.

By designation under the Ontario Heritage Act, the following features are specifically protected:

- all existing stonework in its original random coursing
- all door and window openings in their original location, size, and pattern of voussoirs,
- 6 over 6, vertical opening, wooden sash windows
- narrow face boards, boxed eaves and narrow frieze, in their original pattern
- bellfry, flagpole and gingerbread in their original pattern
- the roof, in its original slope and covering material (wooden shingles)
- the vestibule, as existing
- as much of the original fabric of the building, either structural or architectural, interior or exterior, stone, wood or metal, as is possible to conserve.
