SCHEDULE "B"REASON FOR DESIGNATIONVITTORIA BAPTIST CHURCH

The Vittoria Baptist Church is a good example of the Greek Doric Revival Style Period of architecture. The building dates from 1852 but the congregation goes back to 1803 and is the oldest congregation in Norfolk. The original members of the congregation were United Empire Loyalists. For these reasons, the Vittoria Baptist Church warrants designation and protection under The Ontario Heritage Act, 1980 and that the following features be specifically noted for their architectural significance:

1. The north, south and west elevations
2. The roof line with its belfry
3. The pilasters with their capitals
4. The entablature
5. The windows

Interior

6. The balustrade of the entrance stair
7. The double doors leading to the main part of the church
8. The dado
