Take Notice that the Council of The Corporation of the City of Kingston intends to pass by-laws under Section 29 of the Ontario Heritage Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter 0.18, to designate the following lands to be of cultural heritage value and interest:

The property, locally known as Westbrook United Church, includes a representative example of a Gothic Revival style limestone church building. The church was built in 1867 on lands donated by the Powley family, an early United Empire Loyalist family in the former Kingston Township. The property has direct association with the history of the Methodist Church in Kingston and its distinctive architecture makes the Westbrook United Church a landmark.

3562 Princess Street (Part of Lot 3, Concession 3, Western Addition as in FR506637 Except 13R-2491, former Township of Kingston, now City of Kingston, County of Frontenac), known as the Sproul House.

The Sproul House contains a representative example of a mid-19th century two storey Ontario vernacular red brick farmhouse with a one-and-a-half storey west wing. The Sproul House contributes to the rural character of the historic community of Westbrook.

3761 Princess Street (Part Lot 6, Concession 3, Western Addition as in FR482932, former Township of Kingston, now City of Kingston, County of Frontenac), known as the Charles Wesley Benjamin Farmhouse.

The C.W. Benjamin Farmhouse property includes a representative example of a mid-19th century Ontario vernacular farmhouse of excellent limestone construction. The circa 1876 farmhouse is associated with the Benjamin family, an early farming family in Westbrook. Benjamin's oldest son, Ebenezer, built a similar house to the west of the subject property around the same time. The C.W. Benjamin Farmhouse contributes to the rural character of the historic community of Westbrook and its distinctive stone architecture makes it a landmark along Princess Street.

3791 Princess Street (Part of Lots 5-7, Concession 3, Western Addition, Being Parts 1 & 3 on Reference Plan 13R-1285; S/T TK19422, TK19827, TKT11752, TKT11771, TKZ149064, TKZ19065, TKS19071, former Township of Kingston, now City of Kingston, County of Frontenac), known as the Ebenezer Benjamin Junior Farmstead.

The E. Benjamin Jr. Farmstead property includes a representative example of a mid-19th century one-and-a-half storey Ontario vernacular farmhouse of excellent limestone construction and fine masonry work. The property also includes a one storey 19th century stone outbuilding. This early 1870s farmhouse is associated with the Benjamin family, an early farming family in Westbrook. Benjamin's father, Charles, built a similar farmhouse to the east of the subject property around the same time. The E. Benjamin Jr. Farmstead contributes to the rural character of the historic community of Westbrook and its distinctive stone architecture makes it a landmark along Princess Street.
