TOWN PLAN PT LOT 13 N BOND;ST

PIN: 63223-0089

REASON FOR DESIGNATION

Architectural Design or Physical Value:

This 19th century Victorian home is suspected to have been constructed in 1870 using buff brick as an alternative to the more popular red brick. The house has a number of features which historically reflects the time in which it was built and architecturally contributes to the neighbourhood in which it was constructed. There are Italianate elements to the home, particularly those surrounding the canted bay windows featuring arched lintels. This asymmetrical home is accompanied by simple detailing, such as the decorative elements in its gabled roof and arched brickwork lintels around the second storey windows. By including elements from two different styles, the property identifies itself as an architecturally unique home worth preservation.

ATTRIBUTES TO BE CONSERVED:

- Buff brick
- Italianate single story canted bay windows
- Arched windows detailed with round segmental arch brickwork
- Two original chimneys punctuating the gables
- Drop finial decoration on south-facing gable
- Wrap around Greek Revival verandah
- Balusters supporting the roof of the verandah
- Shed dormers balancing the second storey verandah and door
