SCHEDULE "B"

TO BY-LAW NO. 266 - 88

OF THE

CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF CAMBRIDGE

The property located at 2-4 Water Street North is recommended for designation for architectural reasons. A two storey Beaux Arts Classical structure, the former Bank of Toronto (c. 1912) is the only building in Cambridge constructed of glazed terra cotta. The terra cotta blocks used in construction are moulded units comprised of buff coloured clay, covered with a cream white slip and a clear glaze.

Outstanding features cited in the reasons for designation include the windows, which have moulded terra cotta surrounds and sills. A number of the main floor windows have large square terra cotta keystones inscribed with decorative moulding.

In addition, the building is noteworthy for it's wall treatment, which includes wide corner pilasters rising from the street to slightly above the roof line. These have decorative moulding, plain geometric panels and plinths. An entablature encircles the building with the embossed words "Bank of Toronto" mounted on the frieze. The main door is set in a moulded terra cotta embrasure headed by a large rectangular keystone, and is flanked by a pair of globe lamps on metal columns.
