SCHEDULE “B” TO BY-LAW NO. 2023-0115

REASONS FOR DESIGNATION

Description of Property

The property is located at 9920 Regional Road 25 along the southwest side of the roadway in Halton Hills and contains a two-and-a-half-storey stone residential building within a treed lot adjacent to Sixteen Mile Creek.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

The property at 9920 Regional Road 25 has physical and design value as a unique example of a vernacular cut-stone residential structure with Queen Anne and Romanesque Revival influences in its design. Built with local materials, the cut limestone exterior of the house has remained largely unaltered since its construction at the turn of the last century. Towercliffe House features a corner tower (altered), two-storey projecting bay, top-heavy chimneys, and a variety of window sizes and shapes often used in Queen Anne Architecture, with rustic cut stone as the material being reminiscent of more traditional building methods. The round arched windows on the front elevation, heavy quoins and string courses are also architectural elements often included in Romanesque Revival structures. Stone cutter Joseph Bate built Towercliffe House with locally quarried cut limestone, and the existing building features rock-faced stone throughout, with stone lintels, sills, door and window surrounds and keystones, quoining at each corner, the (originally three-storey) tower, and a heavy stone string course between the first and second storey.

The property at 9920 Regional Road 25 has historical and associative value due to its associations with its builder, local quarryman and bridge builder Joseph Bate. The property is also associated with longtime owner William (Bill) Hampshire, who helped construct the building and was a significant figure in the local community. Heavily involved in the community, Hampshire served on County Council, was an active member of Boston Presbyterian Church, ran as a federal Liberal candidate in 1926, was a school trustee and became Sheriff of Halton County in 1935 until 1946.

The property at 9920 Regional Road 25 has contextual value as it remains in its original location within the rural area along Regional Road 25, maintaining the existing context of residential properties along this portion of the highway. The property remains physically, functionally, visually, and historically linked to its surroundings. Due to its situation above Regional Road 25 and dense vegetation, the existing house is not considered a landmark.

Heritage Attributes

The identified heritage attributes of the property at 9920 Regional Road 25 that contribute to its physical and design value include:

- The setback, location and orientation of the existing residential building known as Towercliffe House along Regional Road 25;
- The scale, form and massing of the two-and-a-half storey building including hipped roof with dual stone chimneys on a stone foundation;
