SCHEDULE “B” TO BY-LAW NO. 2024-0052

REASONS FOR DESIGNATION

Description of Property

The subject property is an irregularly shaped parcel located at the northwest corner of 5 Side Road and Regional Road 25 within the historic Scotch Block area in Halton Hills. The property contains a nineteenth-century residential building, several smaller outbuildings, a remnant silo, driving range, and the Bob Rumball Day Centre.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

The property at 9094 Regional Road 25 has physical and design value as a representative of a vernacular expression of the Italianate style within the Scotch Block community in the Town of Halton Hills. The two-storey, L-shaped brick building with hipped roof on a stone foundation on the west side of Regional Road 25 has retained features characteristic of the Italianate style, including its hipped roof, strongly accentuated corners, large round-arched and segmentally arched window openings with brick hood-moulds, and tall brick chimney. The existing house continues to be accessed via a mature-tree-lined drive extending from Regional Road 25, with a coniferous windrow to the north, as demonstrated via early mapping and aerial photography.

The property at 9094 Regional Road 25 has strong historical significance due to its associations with the Chisholm family. Thomas Chisholm, who emigrated from Scotland first to the United States and then to Canada in the mid-nineteenth century, settled the property with his family, and the farm remained in the Chisholm family until the 1960s. The property has also long been associated with social services and the deaf community, and with Bob Rumball and the Bob Rumball Canadian Centre of Excellence for the Deaf. Reverend Rumball’s vision and mission, and the work of Henry and Anne Dueck and their family on the farm, have led to decades of service to the deaf community at this location for over 50 years. In this way, Chisholm Farmhouse, adaptively reused since the late 1960s as part of the organization’s work, continues to represent the property’s history of providing services to the local deaf community and beyond.

The property at 9094 Regional Road 25 has contextual value as one of the remaining farmhouses located along Regional Road 25. The existing farmhouse helps to maintain the character of the Scotch Block settlement area which remains rural north of 5 Side Road at the southern terminus of the municipality. The farmhouse has been in this location since the late nineteenth century and is visually and historically linked to its surroundings to the southwest, northwest, and northeast, although the area to the southeast is primarily industrial and changed. The existing tree-lined drive and coniferous windrow to the north of the house reflect its agricultural past in the community. The house, located at the end of a long drive accessed from Regional Road 25, has not been identified as a landmark.

Heritage Attributes
