STATEMENT OF CULTURAL HERITAGE VALUE

27 Church Street is a representative example of the Queen Anne architectural style. The two-storey building has a coursed stone foundation, red brick envelope with stone detailing and complex roofline with front and side gables clad with wood shingles in a square staggered pattern. The subject building includes a number of features emblematic of the Queen Anne architectural style including: a variety of window openings with segmental, round and jack arches, a two-storey canted wall projecting along the south elevation, several porches, including a one storey veranda wrapping the façade and south elevation, which are finished with Classical detailing such as architrave, dentils and columns with decorative capitals.

27 Church Street is associated with Peter Payette, a local business owner and civic volunteer. After moving to Penetanguishene in 1880, Peter Payette established a machine shop and foundry on Nelson Street. The P. Payette Co. Foundry manufactured items the supported Penetanguishene's earliest industries including sawmill machinery, marine engines boilers and marine machinery. Payette and his wife Dorothée initially resided in a two-storey residence at 47 Chatham Street, then purchased part of Lot 25 on the north side of Brock Street in 1900 and built a large house on the subject property in 1902. Peter Payette played an important role in social and civic matters which contributed to the growth and development of the Town. Payette was also a major financial supporter of Penetanguishene's first General Hospital and served on the hospital's Board of Directors. In addition, Mr. Payette was also a member of the Public Library Board, and was elected to Town Council in 1913, though his tenure was brief as he died the same year.

27 Church Street is important in supporting and maintaining the late 19th/early 20th century character of the historic Town of Penetanguishene. 27 Church Street is a large, residential building with designed landscape features prominently positioned on a hill at the intersection of Church Street and Brock Street with views to Penetanguishene Bay. 27 Church Street's prominent positioning, scale, massing and architectural detailing contribute and support the legibility and character of Penetanguishene as a historic village.
