Whereas:

Subsection 29(1) of the Ontario Heritage Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter 0.18 (the "Ontario Heritage Act") authorizes the council of a municipality to enact by-laws to designate property within the municipality, including buildings and structures on the property, to be of cultural heritage value or interest;

Description and Criteria for Designation
Powley Farmhouse

Civic Address: 2638 Kepler Road
Legal Description: Part Lot 10 Con 7 Kingston Part 1, 13R6458; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac
Property Roll Number: 1011 080 240 18910

Introduction and Description of Property

The Powley Farmhouse, located at 2638 Kepler Road, is situated on the north side of the road, in the former Township of Kingston, now part of the City of Kingston. This 0.4 -hectare rural residential property contains a one-and-a-half storey limestone Ontario Gothic Revival Cottage style farmhouse built circa 1860 for farmers Jacob and Nancy Powley.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value/Statement of Significance

The property has design value or physical value because it is a rare, unique, representative or early example of a style, type, expression, material or construction method.

The property has design value or physical value because it displays a high degree of craftsmanship or artistic merit.

The farmhouse is representative of the Ontario Gothic Revival Cottage, as demonstrated through the symmetrical façade, medium-pitched gable roof with twin chimneys at the roof peak, one on each end of the house, and a front elevation that includes a central gable, featuring an arched window opening. The building is well-crafted, with a demonstrable craftsmanship, visible in the attention to construction methods and materials. Particularly notable is the evenly coursed limestone construction and fine masonry work on the façade.

The centrally located front entranceway is flanked by large window openings, which is typical of the Ontario Gothic Revival Cottage style. All window and door openings have tall stone voussoirs and stone sills. The west elevation includes two bays each featuring large window openings.

A sympathetic one storey wing, clad in board and batten siding, extends from the east elevation and features a medium-pitch cross gable roof with three large windows facing the road and a side entrance with porch. The wing also has a limestone chimney at the gable end and a stone-clad foundation.

Despite displaying architectural elements common to the style, the Powley Farmhouse also demonstrates several unusual elements. For example, its oversized main entrance is slightly recessed with side lights and transom. The entrance and flanking window openings have flat heads embellished with tall stone voussoirs. The central window opening above the main entrance has a contrasting, dramatic half round arch with radiating stone voussoirs.

The property also includes a large, detached garage, which is not identified as supporting the heritage value of the property.

The property has historical value or associative value because it has direct associations with a theme, event, belief, person, activity, organization or institution that is significant to a community.

The Powley family were descendants of J. Jacob Powley, a United Empire Loyalist and early settler to Kingston Township. The Powleys were a notable local family in the area, who donated portions of their lands for a school and a Methodist Episcopal Church. Jacob Powley constructed a log farmhouse on the subject property where he lived with his wife Nancy Ann and their three daughters. The farmhouse was rebuilt with the current limestone one around 1860, at about the same time as the first log school on the Powley property was replaced with a stone structure. The Powley Farmhouse remained under the ownership of the Powleys into the 20th century, when Jacob sold the property to his eldest daughter Catherine and her husband Joseph Lawson.

The property has contextual value because it is important in defining, maintaining or supporting the character of an area.

The property has contextual value because it is physically, functionally, visually or historically linked to its surroundings.

The Powley Farmhouse supports the agricultural character of the area through its Ontario Gothic Revival style, which was a common design in Ontario farmhouse construction during the second half of the 19th century. In addition, the modest setback of the residence reflects similar residential sitings along Kepler Road between Sydenham Road and Babcock Road. The property also shares a visual and historical relationship with its surroundings and is an important part of the historical rural context of the area.
