Statement of Cultural Heritage ValueDescription of Property – 2757 St. Joseph Boulevard

2757 St. Joseph Boulevard is located on the north side of St. Joseph Boulevard in Orléans, a suburb in the east end of Ottawa.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

The église Saint-Joseph d'Orléans is a representative example of a Gothic Revival church in Ottawa. The church was completed in 1922 in rusticated limestone, replacing an earlier 1885 church on the site. Elements characteristic of the Gothic Revival style are its pointed arch windows, cruciform plan, central tower, and rose windows. The building is attributed to architect Reverend Georges Bouillon (1841-1932), best known for his Gothic Revival designs. He designed several religious buildings in the Ottawa area including the Rideau Street convent (now demolished but reassembled in the National Gallery of Canada) and Our Lady of the Rosary Convent (85 Primrose Avenue East). The adjoining rectory was constructed in 1891 in the Second Empire style and predates the existing church building. Typical of the style, the building features a symmetrical design, mansard roof, and dormers.

The property is associated with the growth of the Catholic Church in eastern Ottawa. Father Joseph-Eugène Bruno Guigues was the first Bishop of the Diocese of Bytown (Ottawa) and wanted to grow the diocese. In 1849, Guigues invited Catholics from Lower Canada to settle in his parish rather than immigrating to the United States. Early settler François Dupuis approached the Bishop of Bytown in 1849 about establishing a mission in Gloucester Township, the area where Orléans would later form, and that same year, the first Catholic chapel in Orléans was constructed on land owned by Dupuis. A priest from Cumberland or Bytown would visit the chapel every few weeks until the congregation grew large enough to support its own fulltime priest. In 1860, the first resident priest Alphonse-Marius Chaîne arrived, formalizing the creation of the Orléans parish. The church is important to the growth of the Catholic church in Orléans, which continues to serve the Catholic community since its opening.

2757 St. Joseph Boulevard's historical and contextual value lies in its associations to St. Joseph Boulevard, and the development of the village of Saint-Joseph d'Orléans, later known as Orléans. Stemming from missionaries in the area and the establishment of a formal parish, the village of Saint-Joseph d'Orléans was established in the 1850s. Early settlers François Dupuis, Luc Major, and Théodore Besserer played integral roles in the establishment of the village, parish, and naming of the area. The property is linked to the mixed 19th and 20th century historic stone, brick and wood-frame buildings along St. Joseph

Boulevard which are connected by its their commercial, residential, institutional, and agricultural uses along the road. Orléans would develop further in the 1960s as a predominantly suburban community, with a high concentration of francophone families.

With prominent frontage on St. Joseph Boulevard with an imposing limestone construction and a tall spire visible from a distance, and the large property make the church a landmark in Orléans.

Description of Heritage Attributes

Key attributes of the église Saint-Joseph d'Orléans that contribute to the heritage value as a 20th century Gothic Revival church include:

Exterior attributes:

- Cruciform plan
- Rough limestone construction (exterior only) with smooth stone quoins and pier buttresses
- Symmetrical façade with:
 - Central tower including:
 - Spire
 - Latin cross and tin roof
 - Entrance accessed by stairs facing St. Joseph Boulevard
 - Wooden door with pointed arch transom
 - Angled crenellated side towers capped with tin and wooden entrance doors with pointed arch transoms
- Window openings including:
 - The remaining original hand-painted window in the west transept
 - Pointed arch windows with coloured glass
 - Rose windows located on the front façade, and in each transept
 - Window surrounds with quoins

Key exterior attributes of the rectory that contribute to the heritage value as a 20th century stone building in the Second Empire style include:

- Rough limestone construction with mansard roof and dormers
- Symmetrical façade with central entrance, with gable and Latin cross

- Segmental arched windows openings

Key attributes that demonstrate 2757 St. Joseph Boulevard's contextual value as a landmark in Orléans:

- Location, deep setback, and orientation on St. Joseph Boulevard
- Prominence as focal point in Orléans due to its visibility from throughout the surrounding neighbourhood from all directions especially its tower and spire
- Spatial arrangement of the church and rectory, and the landscaped grotto area

Exclusions:

The interior of the rectory, and the later rear and side additions to the church and rectory, including the office, annex, and garage, are excluded from this designation.

Except for the interior attributes identified above, the interior of the church and the liturgical elements, including but not limited to, the altar, crosses, statues, and pews, are excluded from the designation.

The land to the north of the church and rectory is excluded from the designation.

The cemetery is excluded from the designation.
