Statement of Significance and List of Character Defining Features

Description of Property

1598 Baseline Road West, also known as Trull House, is located on the north side of Baseline Road, west of Trulls Road, east of Prestonvale Road and north of Hwy 401. The property contains a one-and-a-half storey, stone, residential building built in 1872.

Physical/Design Value

1598 Baseline Road West has design value as a representative example of a residence constructed in the Gothic Revival architectural style. The three bay, one-and-a-half storey, stone building includes a side gable roof, with a decorative finial in the east gable end. The symmetrically balanced façade boasts a three-gable roof line with a high pitch centre gable flanked by two smaller gables with equal high pitches which are defining elements associate with Gothic Revival style. Additionally, segmentally arched window openings with prominent keystone flanked by large stone voussoir are located on the main level as well as within each gable opening. The tall formal entryway with a transom and sidelights and corner quoining are additional features typical of Gothic Revival architecture in Ontario. 1598 Baseline Road West is a well-built structure with stone masonry which displays a high degree of craftsmanship. The use of stone, assembled in an Aberdeen bond, with stone faces alternating between headers and stretchers is a unique feature of 1598 Baseline Road West. Specifically, the headers with the small stones stacked in groups of three and the stretchers with the full-size stones together create a unique pattern which is augmented by the colour contrasts and created an overall noticeable and unique stone wall assemblage.

Historical/Associative Value

1598 Baseline Road West is directly associated with the Trull family, who were the first settlers in the Courtice area. The land was owned by patriarch John W. Trull, who with his wife Lydia, purchased the subject property in 1812. Lydia Trull was a prominent figure in the area as a trained doctor serving a wide area by horseback. John and Lydia's oldest son, John C. Trull was the first documented child of European descent that was born in Darlington Township. The house was constructed by Jesse Trull who was the grandson of John W and Lydia, and son of John C. Trull. A stone date stone on the façade reads J.T. 1872. Jesse Trull was a prosperous farmer in Darlington and Clarke Townships, eventually owning around 400 acres of farmland. He served as the President of the Dominion Mutual Fire Insurance Association, as well as the President of the Ontario Provincial Grange Institute. Jesse Trull was also involved with the yearly West Durham Agricultural Society Exhibition, and in 1894, began the annual tradition of holding a Trull Family Picnic. Jesse Trull died in 1912, and the property was sold out of the Trull family in 1916. Jesse Trull relocated the Trull Family Cemetery at some point in late 19th century, likely around 1880. The family cemetery had likely originally been located on the property of his father, John C. Trull. Although it was severed from the subject property in 1906, it appears to have been used into the twentieth century. The cemetery serves as the resting place for select Trull family members, including patriarch and matriarch, John W and Lydia Trull.
