REASONS FOR DESIGNATION

Description of Property

The subject property is located along the northeast side of Third Line in the community of Scotch Block within the Town of Halton Hills. The property contains a two-storey Victorian-era dwelling with Queen Anne Revival influences, and is legally described as "PT LT 6, CON 4 ESQ, PART 1, 4, 20R920; HALTON HILLS/ESQUESING".

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

The Boston Presbyterian Manse at 9059 Third Line is a rare, unique, and representative example of a late-nineteenth-century, Victorian-era residential building with Queen Anne Revival influences within the community of Scotch Block in the Town of Halton Hills. The c.1889 two-storey red-brick dwelling features design elements typical of the Queen Anne Revival style, including the steeply pitched roof, asymmetrical façade, two-storey bay, front facing gable peak, stacked brick chimneys, decorative brick banding, as well as the verandah with wooden radiating spindles, decorative brackets, architrave, and frieze. The building also features elements that are common amongst Victorian-era buildings and are extant within various styles of the period, including the flatheaded window openings with jack arches, projecting plinth foundation, brick corbelling, limestone sills and stringcourse, and tall stacked brick chimneys. The decorative brick work, such as the brick corbels and banding, display a high degree of craftsmanship and artistic merit.

The Boston Presbyterian Manse at 9059 Third Line is associated with the nearby Boston Presbyterian Church, serving as a manse for ministers and their families for nearly 70 years. The Boston Presbyterian congregation was established in 1820 and was created due to the large presence of Scottish immigrants in the area. At the annual congregational meeting on January 5, 1888, the congregation considered the building of a manse for the home of the next pastor. After approving the construction of a new manse, a building committee was appointed on September 21, 1888, and consisted of 15 members of the Church, including Archibald McGibbon, Robert Stewart, Thomas Aitken, Alexander Robertson, Abram Stark, John Sproat, James Murray, John. T. Elliot, Peter Campbell, William Hampshire, James Hume, John Stewart, John Michie, and John Hardy.

Throughout the ownership of the Boston Church, the manse hosted several ministers and their families up until 1957, including Rev. James Milne, Rev. Gregory, Rev. Watts, Rev. Rose, and Rev. McDermott.

The Boston Presbyterian Manse at 9059 Third Line has contextual value as it is important in defining, maintaining, and supporting the rural character of Scotch Block. The former manse is physically, visually, and historically linked to its surroundings, and accommodated several ministers from the nearby Boston Presbyterian Church. Due to the setback of the house, and the vegetation partially obscuring the front and side elevations, the property has not been identified as a landmark.
