✓ Ontario Heritage Foundation.

Take notice that the Council of the Corporation of the City of Toronto, on the 26th day of October, 1977, decided to designate the lands and buildings, known municipally as No.87 Elm Street, as a property of architectural and historical value or interest under The Ontario Heritage Act, 1974, 1974 S.O. Chapter 122.

Short Statement of the Reasons for the Proposed Designation:

Originally the House of Industry and recently known as Laughlen Lodge, 87 Elm Street is recommended for designation for architectural and historical reasons. Built in 1848 as a home for the aged poor, it is the only remaining institutional work in the City of the prominent early Toronto architect and civil benefactor, John G. Howard. The building was enlarged by architect E.J. Lennox in 1899 and the third floor remains as his contribution since the east and west wings were demolished in 1976. The central entrance, window details and plain brickwork are well designed and represent the skill and integrity of the original builders in early Toronto.

Notice of objection to the designation may be served on the Clerk within thirty days of the 4th day of November, 1977. (File 1397).

DATED at Toronto this 4th day of November, 1977.
