SCHEDULE "A"

To

By-law No. 84-251

150 Queen Street South,

Hamilton, Ontario

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain parcel or tract of land and premises, situate, lying and being in the City of Hamilton, in the Regional Municipality of Hamilton-Wentworth and being composed of the south twenty-two feet (22') of Lot number One and the north twenty-two feet (22') of Lot number Two on the corner of Queen and Robert (now Bold) Streets in a Survey of Lots laid out by T. A. Blyth for Robert W. Law, Plan 58, said parcels having a frontage on Queen Street of forty-four feet (44') and running back the full depth of the lots one hundred and twenty-eight feet (128') more or less.

SCHEDULE "B"

To

By-law No. 84-251

REASONS FOR DESIGNATION

150 Queen Street South,

Hamilton, Ontario

The brick house at 150 Queen Street South was built in 1873 for Andrew Greenhill and was originally one of a row of four similar houses all belonging to the Greenhill family.

The one-storey height, hip roof and corner quoins are features of the "Ontario Cottage" style, so named because of its popularity in Ontario. It was a style favoured by British colonists but not commonly used in the U.S.

The house is reached by a set of stairs, originally wooden, which leads up to a front porch, supported by four wooden columns. By the mid-1870's, this height of land on the west side of Queen Street was built up with a row of housing, at a time when the land to the east, south and north was still undeveloped. That 150 Queens Street South still today is part of that original row mutually strengthens the impact of all of them and provides an effective contrast to the high-rise buildings erected across the street.

Included in the designation are the east and north facades-- walls, roof, foundation, porch and stairs. 1
