SCHEDULE "A1"

"WHITEHERN"

Reasons for Designation

The interior and exterior of this property are recommended for conservation as property having historic and architectural value or interest by the Local Architectural Conservation Advisory Committee of the City of Hamilton, on the "Architectural Review and Evaluation Report" prepared by Professor Anthony Adamson, in "Victorian Architecture in Hamilton" published by the Architectural Conservancy of Ontario and written by Professor A. G. McKay and by the Historic Sites Board of the Department of Northern Affairs.

The building is of architectural significance as it is a fine example of a stone mansion occupied by a prosperous family in a Canadian town. The building was constructed in 1848 of limestone which had been quarried in Hamilton. The facade is essentially Georgian with an emphasis on symmetry, a graceful Ionic porch, small-bracketed eaves and a classical entablature. The balustrade and round-headed key-stoned window are of the Italianate style.

Whitehern is of historical significance, having been occupied by members of the McQuesten family for over 100 years continuously from 1852 until 1968. Dr. Calvin McQuesten, an immigrant foundryman from New Hampshire, bought the home from its original owner Richard Duggan, industrialist. Upon the death of Dr. McQuesten, in 1885, his son Isaac moved into Whitehern. Isaac's son, the Honourable T. B. McQuesten, was the most notable member of the McQuesten family, serving as Hamilton Alderman, member of the Parks Board, Minister of Highways and Minister of Public Works. T. B. McQuesten died in 1948 and Calvin, his brother and the last surviving member of the family, died in 1968, leaving Whitehern and the grounds to the Parks Board of Hamilton.

SCHEDULE "B1"

"DUNDURN CASTLE"

Reasons for Designation

The interior and exterior of this property are recommended for conservation as property having historic and architectural value or interest by the Local Architectural Conservation Advisory Committee of the City of Hamilton, in "Victorian Architecture in Hamilton" published by the Architectural Conservancy of Ontario and written by Professor A. G. McKay, and in "The ancestral roof: domestic architecture of Upper Canada", written by Marion MacRae and Anthony Adamson.

The building is of architectural significance as it is the largest and finest house in Ontario left standing from the days of Upper Canada and Canada West. Dundurn Castle was built in 1832 and is constructed of stuccoed brick in the Regency style. The architect, Robert Charles Wetherell, added many Italian embellishments such as the twin watch towers, balustrades, glazed doors, ornamental brackets, Greek mouldings, a Doric porch and elaborate chimneys to the design. These features transformed the building into one of the first and largest Italianate Tuscan villas in North America. The treatment of the interior is of a more classical style. Included in the Castle complex are a dove-cote and cockpit, with stables being added at a later date.

Sir Allan Napier MacNab, the first Prime Minister of the United Province of Canada, had the mansion constructed as his home and resided there from 1834 until his death in 1862. He purchased the land on which the castle stands from Colonel Richard Beasley, and incorporated Beasley's brick home into his own. MacNab was named Upper Canada's first Queen's Counsel, served as the Tory representative for Wentworth County in the House of the Assembly for 26 years, was knighted for his service to the Crown in helping crush the rebellion of William Lyon MacKenzie, and brought the Great Western Railway to Hamilton in 1854. The present owner of Dundurn Castle, the City of Hamilton, had it restored in 1967 as a Centennial project.
