SCHEDULE "B"

REASONS FOR THE DESIGNATION OF 22 CROSS STREET

Historical Significance

22 Cross Street was built in the prosperous late 1840's by the Platt Nash family. The Nash family owned 22 Cross Street for twenty-three years. Significant also is the long term ownership of two other Dundas families. The William Proctor family owned 22 Cross Street for twenty-seven years, and for fifty years the house remained in the possession of Richard Norton, finisher, and family.

Architectural Significance

As an outstanding example of a late Georgian townhouse, 22 Cross Street has a characteristic rectangular, centre hall plan; a smooth, symmetrical, unadorned facade of three bays; and flared lintels. Due to 22 Cross Street's corner location, the fine Flemish bond brickwork and stone course of the front facade are continued on the north facade, thereby giving main facade treatment to a side facade. The umbrage or porch created by the deep recess of the centrally located classical doorway is unusual to Dundas and gives this nineteenth century house a distinctive character all its own.

The 1840 house, the nineteenth century brick barn, and the water garden wall form an attractive complex of domestic architecture. This complex produces a courtyard effect in the backyard.

REASONS FOR THE DESIGNATION OF 190 GOVERNOR'S ROAD, "ORCHARD HILL"

Historical Significance

Orchard Hill is first associated with Rev. William McMurray and his wife, Jane Johnston, who came to Dundas in 1838 to serve the Anglican parishes of St. James and St. John's, Ancaster. William McMurray had spent the previous five years in Sault Ste. Marie where he served as an Anglican missionary for the Upper Lakes Country and where he had met and married Charlotte Johnston, the European-educated daughter of John Johnston, trader and Susan Waubojeeg, the daughter of an Objibwa Chief. It is believed that

Orchard Hill was erected some time not long after the McMurray's arrival in Dundas. During the next nineteen years from 1838-1857, a period of significant growth and development for the communities of Dundas and Ancaster, Rev. McMurray was an important local figure and religious leader. Among the McMurray's guests in Dundas was Charlotte's sister, Jane Schoolcraft, wife of Henry Schoolcraft, who is considered the foremost authority of his time, and one of the leading authorities ever, on North American Indians.

Orchard Hill later was occupied by Alexander Richard Wardell, lawyer and mayor of Dundas from 1868-1871 and again in 1879. In 1920 the dwelling became the family home of Fred Warren, architect and M.P.P. in the 1940's, who returned the deteriorated house to its original grandeur.

Architectural Significance

190 Governor's Road is a gracious, two-storey, brick Georgian mansion that is attractively situated on a small rise of land. Both the centre-hall plan and symmetrical window placement are characteristic of the Georgian style. Of particular architectural interest are the vernacular, Palladian window above the entrance, the horizontal proportions of the facade, and the relatively low central gable, indicative of its early date. The interior continues the same gracious proportions and high quality of craftsmanship that the exterior displays. Located between Ballindalloch and Foxbar, Orchard Hill serves to co-ordinate the three estates into an historic complex that is of provincial significance.

REASONS FOR THE DESIGNATION OF 10 OVERFIELD STREET, "FOXBAR"

Historical Significance

Foxbar was built by Thomas Robertson in the mid 1850's. In his day, Thomas Robertson was a prominent Dundas figure, active in both legal and political circles. He practiced law in Dundas for many years as a partner in the firm of Robertson and Wardell. In 1878 Robertson was elected M.P. for Hamilton and later became a Supreme Court Judge.

In 1901 Frank E. Lennard Sr. became the owner of Foxbar. At his death in 1936, Foxbar was subsequently taken over for twenty-one years by his son, Frank E. Lennard Jr., a local M.P.

Architectural Significance

Foxbar is an excellent and uncommon example of a two storey stone house with a centre hall plan that combines late classical and early Italianate features. For Foxbar these features include a projecting centre bay, overhanging eaves with ornamental brackets, a bracketed roof pediment with a central eye window, a second storey, double round-arched window, and a classical doorway with rectangular transom and side lights.

Foxbar is also an excellent example of the skilled stone masonry that flourished in the Dundas-Hamilton area in the mid-nineteenth century.

The medium hip roof displays two examples of picturesque gabled chimneys made of brick.

The interior of Foxbar was completely renovated after it was destroyed by fire in 1931.

Architecturally and historically Foxbar figures prominently in a valuable collection of nineteenth century heritage houses nestled among mature trees and spacious grounds on Governor's Road and Overfield Street.
