Take notice that Toronto City Council intends to designate the lands and buildings known municipally as 7-11 Gloucester Street (the Hugh Matheson Houses) under Part IV, Section 29 of the Ontario Heritage Act.

Description

The properties at 7-11 Gloucester Street are worthy of designation under Part IV, Section 29 of the Ontario Heritage Act for their cultural heritage value, and meet the provincial criteria prescribed for municipal designation under the three categories of design, associative and contextual values. Located on the south side of Gloucester Street, east of Yonge Street, the Hugh Matheson Houses (completed 1886) are three attached 2½-storey row houses.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value

The Hugh Matheson Houses have cultural heritage value as surviving row houses designed in the traditional Toronto Bay-n-Gable style that is identified by its two-bay principal façade where a bay window beneath a gable is placed beside the main entrance to the premises. The buildings are further distinguished by their decorative brickwork that divides the stories and highlights the recessed door openings and the fenestration, as well as the surviving wood detailing on the gables.

The Hugh Matheson Houses are valued for their visual and historical links to their surroundings on Gloucester Street near Yonge Street where they form part of an enclave of surviving mid- to late-19th century buildings of heritage interest near the intersection. The house form buildings are visual reminders of the development of Gloucester Street as a residential neighbourhood near Yonge Street where they stand opposite the Charles Levey Houses at 8 (12) Gloucester and near the landmark Masonic Hall Buildings at 2 Gloucester, which are recognized heritage properties. As a group, the Hugh Matheson Houses and their neighbours contribute to the heritage character of the area adjoining the corner of Yonge and Gloucester along Toronto's "Main Street".
