By-law 96-164

In January of 1872, Joseph Rickaby, acting on behalf of the trustees of the Kirby Congregation of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, purchased the site of the former Primitive Methodist Church from William Fielding. Adjoining land was acquired in 1873 from congregational member Jonathan Tyerman and in 1880 a new Wesleyan Methodist Church was built on the combined lot. Decorated with quoins and hood surrounds, it features a steeply pitched roof and simple lancet windows, which were hallmarks of the Gothic Revival style. It is designated for its historical significance and the following architectural features:

Exterior:

- The original brick façade and fieldstone foundation
- The decorative quoins and hood surrounds
- The date stone set above the front entrance
- The lancet windows including those with panes of original coloured glass

Interior

- The tin ceiling and tin ceiling vent in the sanctuary
- The wainscoting in the sanctuary and lower hall
- The sanctuary's pine floors
