(Former Ennismore Township)

Part 1 Plan 45R-15406 – PIN 28444-0063 LT

Reason for Designation

The property at 507 Ennis Road in the hamlet of Ennismore, Ontario is worthy of designation under Part IV of the Ontario Heritage Act for its cultural heritage value or interest because it is part of an intact ecclesiastical landscape that speaks to both the influence and the historic role of the church in the everyday lives of citizens and to the importance of rural life in Ontario. As an intact Parish Hall it has strong ties to the community that it has served for over 100 years. It has brought together members of the community otherwise dispersed across a large area to create a sense of unity and mutual support.

The Hall served as one of the first continuation schools erected in this part of Ontario and appears to be a rare example of a continuation school in a village setting. It remains both an important touchstone for the hundreds of students who spent many years in the school and a landmark in its rural setting. The structure relates to the surrounding buildings owned by the Roman Catholic Church in Ennismore that reinforce the Church's history as a major focal point in the area.

St. Martin's Parish Hall has served as a cultural and historic centre of the community of Ennismore for more than a century and it contributed to the village's role as the hub in a rural, social and cultural network. Architecturally, the structure is of interest in its vernacular, eclectic interpretation of the Gothic Revival and Italianate styles.

Heritage Attributes

The cultural heritage value or interest of this property is found in the St. Martin's Parish Hall building, the significant elements of which are as follows:

Its overall profile, consisting of a long rectangular hall covered by a combined low pitch roof, a central belvedere tower over the entrance, and a taller area covered by a four-sided gable roof;

The organization of the building, as visible on the exterior, with a tall basement storey, a central belvedere tower, and a one-storey hall with tall stage area;

The classical proportions, symmetry, and organization of the façade and the side elevations;

Its eclectic, Gothic Revival and Italianate decorative detailing, concentrated in the design of the belvedere tower with its carved wooden arches, columns, dentils and colonettes;

Its original exterior finishes and detailing, including the fieldstone treatment of the foundation, wood detailing, glazing, windows, window surrounds, cornice brackets, dentil details, soffits, fascia, and surviving clapboard siding;

Evidence of its combined hall and school function, including the overall fenestration pattern and the shape and height of the windows on all sides;

All surviving evidence concerning the appearance of its original entrance;

The wooden sign naming "St. Martin's Parish Hall".

All entrances dating from its use as a combined hall and continuation school.

Read a first, second, and third time and finally passed this 13th day of November A.D., 2012.
