SCHEDULE "A"

BY-LAW 59-90

REASONS FOR DESIGNATION:

The two main reasons for designation involve the importance of the architect and the distinctions of the structure.

The church structure of St. Clare's was designed by Francis Conroy Sullivan, a Canadian architect who introduced modern movements in architecture to Canada. Heavily influenced by Frank Lloyd Wright, many of Sullivan's structures displayed the Prairie School Style.

In Eastern Ontario alone, Sullivan has designed the following structures:

1. The Sullivan House on Somerset Street in Sandy Hill.
2. The public library in Pembroke.
3. The Lansdowne Park Horticulture Building (Curl-O-Brome).
4. St. Clare's Roman Catholic Church.
5. The Patrick J. Powers house at the corner of Bay and James Street.
6. The Dunning house on Acacia Avenue in Rockcliffe Park.

Built in 1915, St. Clare's is a very distinctive structure, and is unique in that it is one of two churches designed by Sullivan, and the only of the two that is still in existence. The structure is characterized by a steeply pitched roof having a bell cast shape, which gives the sense of shelter and refuge. Being similar to French Canadian Seigneurial houses, the flared eaves flatten out to form the projecting overhang that Sullivan characteristically utilized. The roofline is punctuated by dormer windows incorporating the same bell cast roof shape, suggesting a Japanese pavilion influence.

As in the Prairie Style, the church emphasizes strong horizontals and geometric shapes, evoking the flatness of the prairies. However, Sullivan accented the horizontal with the striking vertical of his pagoda-topped bell tower with brown cross. This verticality is influenced by the Ontario Gothic and gives a feeling of reaching skyward.

The building facades are covered with beige coloured stucco and accented by simple dark brown wood details. These materials were Sullivan's preferred palette and appear on many of his designs.
