Reasons for Designation

Description of Property

46 Dorset Street East in the Municipality of Port Hope is located on the north side of Dorset Street East in Port Hope's historic neighbourhood of Protestant Town near St. Mark's Church. The rectangle-shaped lot is approximately 0.1 hectares in size with a frontage of approximately 22.8 metres. The main building on the property, notably the Thomas B. Spiers House, is a one-and-a-half story frame building with a square plan finished in light red brick. A driveway is located east of the house. The house is positioned far from the street.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

The subject property has cultural heritage value or interest for its physical/design, historical/associative and contextual values.

The subject property has physical value and design value because of the main residence. This residence, known as the Thomas B. Spiers House, dated to 1923, is a representative example of of Arts and Crafts inspired architecture popular in the early 20th century of which there are few examples in Port Hope. The bungalow exemplifies a particular period in the town's development (1920-1935) and represents the local adoption of a widely popular form of house design.

The subject property has historical/associative value for its association with owner and builder, Thomas B. Spiers, a Port Hope engineer and owner of a local milling and lumber business.

The subject property has contextual value because it supports the character of the area through its architectural style, setback, and positioning with respect to Dorset Street East. The main residence complements the neighbourhood and makes a noteworthy 20th century architectural contribution to neighbouring 19th century houses adding to the character of the historical Protestant Town residential neighbourhood of Port Hope.

Heritage Attributes

The cultural heritage value or interest of the subject property is represented in the following heritage attributes:

- The setback, placement, and orientation of the building on Dorset Street East (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
- The main building, including:
  - The one-and-a-half storey form, scale and horizontal massing of the building (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
  - The rectangular footprint of the house (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
  - Cross-gabled with partial-width inset side porch supported by a brick pier (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
  - Prominent overhanging eaves on all elevations (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
  - Side gable roof incorporating a gable dormer on the front and rear façade (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
  - Rich textural and colour contrast between the exterior light red brick finish and pebble dash finish in the gable ends on all elevations, on the front porch gable, and roof domers (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
  - Internal red brick chimney (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
  - Prominent elevated front entrance with staircase and porch (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
  - Large projecting gable roof supported by two wood columns (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);

- Inset front entrance with original panelled door, sidelights, and seasonal storm insert (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
- Multi-paned wooden French doors (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
- Form and pattern of fenestration incorporating windows in single, double, and triple assembly (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
- Original double hung wooden sash windows with patterned multi-paned upper sashes (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
- High foundation incorporating concrete blocks with a "rock-face" finish intended to imitate the appearance of roughly chiseled stone blocks (which illustrates its physical/design and contextual values);
