Section 5: Statement of Reasons for Designation

Design and Physical Value

1201 Salem Road has design and physical value as a representative example of late nineteenth century Queen Anne style farmhouse in Mariposa Township. Built in 1890, the house is of two-and-a-half storey construction with its primary decorative elements located on the front façade. These include two-and-a-half storey bays with elaborate woodwork which is typical of the Queen Anne style that developed in the later decades of the nineteenth century and was characterized by ornate and eclectic decorative elements. The house demonstrates a high degree of craftsmanship in its front façade. While the house as a whole is built on a fairly basic and standard plan for this period, the front of the house was highly elaborate to express the Queen Anne style. The craftsmanship in the bay and gable features, including the bargeboard, brackets, fish scale shingles, and gable windows with surrounds is exemplary for a rural Ontario farmhouse from this period.

Historical and Associative Value

1201 Salem Road has historical and associative value in its associations with the Davidson family and the settlement of Mariposa Township in the mid-nineteenth century. The property was owned by the Davidson family, an early settler family who arrived in the township in 1846 when Samuel Davidson purchased 1000 acres of land in the township from the Canada Company. The house was built by his grandson James Davidson in 1890 and the property remained in the Davidson family until the 1960s. The property yields information on a longstanding local farm family and provides information on the growth in prosperity in Mariposa's agricultural community throughout the second half of the nineteenth century as reflected in the large new home constructed during this period in a fashionable style.

Contextual Value

1201 Salem Road has contextual value as part of the rural agricultural landscape of Mariposa Township. The house is located in a primarily rural area of the township that is characterized by agricultural properties, many of which date to the second half of the nineteenth century and share similar characteristics including red brick construction, decorative details from the Victorian period, and siting on large agricultural lots with significant setbacks. Through its architecture, age, location, use, and physical context, it supports and maintains the historic rural character of Mariposa Township. The property is well known in the area for its unique architecture and picturesque setting, and considered to be a local landmark.

Section 6: Heritage Attributes

The Reasons for Designation include the following heritage attributes and apply to all elevations, unless otherwise specified, and the roof including: all façades, entrances, windows, chimneys, and trim, together with construction materials of wood, brick, stone, stucco, concrete, plaster parging, metal, glazing, their related building techniques and landscape features.

Design and Physical Features
