Schedule “A”

Description of Property

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Town of Aurora, in the Regional Municipality of York, municipally known as 73 Kennedy Street West, and being composed of PT LT 37 PL 246 Aurora PT 2, 65R3623, T/W R299690 and R340938, being all of PIN 03659-0094 (LT), including the primary building thereon.

Schedule “B”

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

73 Kennedy Street West is of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest based on its design and physical value, historical and associative value, and contextual value.

Design and Physical Value:

The property is a unique representative example of a building constructed in the Edwardian architectural style with Queen Anne influences. The dwelling itself includes features indicative of its period of construction and high craftsmanship and detail, including the hipped roof with deep overhanging eaves, attic dormers, uniquely shaped angular bay window at the second storey, parlour style windows, and the covered verandah which is curved along the front and east elevations supported by wood columns. The property itself also features a generous front yard setback and open space setting characterized by mature trees and landscaping. The building is a highly rare and well-preserved example of the unique architectural style.

Historical and Associative Value:

The property was farmed in the 19th century by John W. Stephson, an early farmer and inhabitant of Aurora. At the time the property consisted of 27 acres, and it was later subdivided to the current size. The property is known locally as Willowdene, and with its generous front yard and open space area it is highly unique for the area. Further, the property was also instrumental in its subdivision which led to the growth and development of the community area west of Yonge Street. The property likely featured an original dwelling, constructed in the mid 19th century, with the current dwelling constructed on the property likely sometime in the late 19th century. The property has direct association with the theme of the Town’s transition from a largely agricultural based society and economy to a burgeoning commercial and residential village and Town. The property was also awarded with a heritage display plaque that was granted by the Aurora Historical Committee in 1994.

Contextual Value:

The property defines, maintains and supports the historic character of the Aurora core area in close proximity to Yonge Street. The building and land area provides a significant link to the early growth and development of the Town, specifically in relation to growth that occurred in and around early routes like Yonge Street. The building and its highly unique scale and architectural style help tell the story of the evolution of the community. Due to the unique front yard setback, scale of the building and relative size of the property and mature trees, it can be considered a landmark that is significant in defining the character of the area.

Description of Heritage Attributes

The following provides a description of heritage attributes for the property which contribute to the reasons for which the property is of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest. Important to the preservation of the property are the original key attributes of the building that express its value, which include:

Exterior Elements

- Overall 2.5 storey scale and massing of wood frame construction
