and individuals significant to the history and settlement of the Crieff area of the Township, and serves as a marker of the nineteenth century Highland Scots Presbyterian immigration that characterized the southern part of Puslinch Township. Its continuous service across multiple generations underscores its cultural role in the Township, and it serves as a physical landmark at the main crossroads of the Hamlet of Crieff. The property meets the requirements for designation prescribed by the Province of Ontario under the three categories of design/physical value, historical/associative value, and contextual value. The property is listed on the Township of Puslinch Municipal Heritage Register and has received a plaque from the Township's Heritage Committee for its cultural heritage value.

Design Value:

The property includes a vernacular Presbyterian Church constructed by local craftsmen in yellow brick, most likely from the local Morriston brickyard. The simplicity of design and modest size reflects the beliefs and resources of the rural population it served. This church was built in 1882 re-using materials from an earlier 1854 frame church on the site, replaced because it was too large and difficult to heat. Duncan McPherson was the contractor. The church form is rectangular with a front-gabled roof and brick walls laid in a stretcher bond. An engraved "KNOX CHURCH PUSLINCH 1882" date stone is located under the front gable. The front facade has two separate entrance doorways each fitted with a split transom window in a segmented arch. Each side wall has three large vertical windows with segmented arches. In the late twentieth century stained glass was added to these windows through sponsored donations from families in the congregation. All fenestrations have soldier-style yellow brick lintels. In 1910, the original frame church sheds were replaced by a yellow brick addition to the rear of the church. This masonry work is attributed to Dan McMillan.

The church has an associated cemetery on the property that dates to the 1854 church. The cemetery lies on the west and east sides of the church and is still operational. Grave markers carved by local stone carvers in the nineteenth century showcase a diverse range of styles, degrees of craftsmanship, and materials. This variety adds to architectural significance of the property, providing a glimpse into the different artistic expressions and memorialization practices from inception to the present.

In 1923, Col. John Bayne McLean hired the Olmsted Brothers firm to prepare a landscape plan for the church cemetery, which had fallen into disrepair. The Olmsted Brothers was the principal landscape architecture firm in North America, whose projects included the Rockefeller's Biltmore House in North Carolina. Among their few projects in Ontario, they did significant work for J.B. McLean, for his Toronto residence, and in Crieff, for his father's parsonage and farm, and for Knox Presbyterian Church. Their plan included a large capped stone wall fence running along the west side and the front of the property with rear and front iron entrance gates as well as ornamental trees and hedges. The landscape work was carried out in 1924 by church members, and in 1934, the congregation placed a plaque in the front wall, with appreciation of this landscape work commissioned by the J.B McLean.

Historical/Associative Value

The property, located at Part Lot 26, Front Concession 1, originally housed an 1854 large frame church with Gothic windows. The initial construction of this building coincided with the division of the Presbyterian Church congregation in Puslinch into "East" and "West." The East residents attended Duff's Presbyterian Church, while the West residents went to Knox's Church. Many of these Scottish congregants in the West division included the McPherson, McDonald, McLean, and McPhatter families who played vital roles in establishing both Knox Church and the Puslinch community as a whole. The cemetery opened in 1854 at the time the frame church was built. The cemetery markers record the individuals who were congregants of the church, and provide vital information on disease mortality in the settlement period.

The Knox Presbyterian Cemetery provides historical information about gravestone manufacture, genealogical records of the individuals interred within, and insights to disease and mortality in the settlement period. The Cemetery also showcases a 1920s landscape design significant in its association with the Olmsted Brothers.

Contextual Value

Knox Church is situated at the crossroads of the hamlet of Crieff, a locus of central Highland Scots settlement in Puslinch Township in the early 1800s. In the immediate vicinity of the church, notable early residences of these settlers have been preserved, such as those built by John Thompson, Archibald Thomson, Malcolm Gilchrist, William McDonald, and others that form this historic section of Concession 1 in the Township. In 1862, an associated church manse was built on lot 25 for Rev. Andrew McLean, Minister of Knox Church from 1857-1873 who delivered services in Scots Gaelic. It still stands. Due to its cultural significance, Knox Church is widely regarded as a landmark representing numerous communities, families, and generations in the Crieff region. It continues to serve the community as a religious and social centre.
