Statement of Reasons for Designation

Design and Physical Value

11 John Street, also known as Queen Victoria Public School, has cultural heritage value as Lindsay's oldest operating school building. The building, which was constructed 1893 as a replacement for an older public school building serving the East Ward of Lindsay, demonstrates the transition occurring the late nineteenth century from Victorian to Beaux-Arts architecture in school buildings. The original section of the school includes features such as its jerkinhead roof, large sash windows with concrete lug sills, and brick coursing and cornices which show the shift from Victorian to Beaux Arts through an increased use of Classically-inspired design elements and massing. The building, when it was originally constructed, also contained a Smead-Dowd heating and ventilation system which was developed around the same period as the school was constructed and was, at the time, the premier system for heating and ventilation in public buildings. The system demonstrates the technical achievements in heating and ventilation systems occurring in the late nineteenth century and is the earliest known use of this system in Lindsay.

Historical and Associative Value

11 John Street has historical and associative value in its role as a local public school serving the historic East Ward of Lindsay. Opening in early 1894, the school was constructed as the first new elementary school forming part of a general upgrade of education facilities in Lindsay that began in the late nineteenth century and continued into the early twentieth century related to the expansion of the education system and growth in public school pupils. It yields information regarding the development of education in Lindsay throughout the late nineteenth and early twentieth century in Lindsay as a long-standing public elementary school in the community, serving the suburban East Ward of the town.

Contextual Value

11 John Street has cultural heritage value as part of the historic landscape of Lindsay's historic East Ward which includes a substantial collection of late nineteenth and early twentieth century architecture. The area is primarily residential and the school contributes to its suburban character as the neighbourhood school which was constructed at around the same time as a substantial portion of the surrounding houses. The property is also a local landmark as a long-standing public school in Lindsay and the main institutional structure in Lindsay's historic East Ward.

Further information respecting the designation is available at the City's Economic Development Department. Interested parties may object to the designating by-law to the Ontario Land Tribunal. Any objection to this designation must be filed within 30 days of November 30, 2023 and include the reasons for objection to the designating by-law and the fee charged by the Tribunal. Objections should be directed to: Cathie Richie, Clerk, City of Kawartha Lakes, P.O. Box 9000, 26 Francis Street, Lindsay, ON K9V 5R8.

The by-law will come into effect on the day following the last day of the notice period.
