STATEMENT OF CULTURAL HERITAGE VALUE OR INTEREST

Description of Property

The property at 356 Watson Avenue is located on the west side of Watson Avenue, between Macdonald Road and Galt Avenue in the Brantwood neighbourhood. The property contains a circa 1915 two-and-a-half storey frame house clad in red brick and wood shingles known as the Turner House.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

Design and Physical Value

The subject house has design and physical value as a representative example of an early 1900s Craftsman style house. The two-and-a-half storey house was built between 1914 and 1915 with elements of Craftsman design such as: a large front verandah; a combination of materials including wood, brick, and cedar shingles; a side gable roof punctuated by rear and front dormers; and multipaned windows throughout, including character-defining protruding bay windows. The house continues to reflect the craftsmanship and natural aesthetic of the Arts and Crafts movement through these historic architectural details.

Historical and Associative Value

The subject house has cultural heritage value for its direct associations with the theme of early 20th century residential development in Oakville, specifically in the subdivision known as 'Brantwood'. Developed in the early 1900s, this subdivision was designed with large lots and mature trees, and was sold to city dwellers as a secluded, beautiful and modern neighbourhood in which to construct their own cottage or stately home. The original homes, including the subject house, were built with influences from the Arts and Crafts era, creating a defined look for the subdivision. The subdivision was a large and significant development for Oakville, substantially increasing its residential area and raising the town's profile. Many buyers of the lots and houses during this time were upper middle-class businesspeople from larger cities, whose presence in turn affected the growth and development of Oakville.

Contextual Value

The subject property has contextual value because it defines, supports and maintains the character of the Brantwood neighbourhood. It is physically, functionally, visually, and historically linked to the surrounding residential neighbourhood and places the Brantwood area's origins in a specific timeframe. The home is one of the earliest built in the Brantwood subdivision and is a prominent building on the street. As an anchor point in the Brantwood subdivision, this house helps to define the original Arts and Crafts aesthetic of Brantwood and continues to support and maintain the character of the neighbourhood.

Description of Heritage Attributes

Key attributes of the property at 356 Watson Avenue that exemplify its cultural heritage value as an early 1900s Craftsman style house, as they relate to the north, east and south elevations of the original two-and-a-half storey rectangular house and the one-storey front porch, include:

- The massing and form of the two-and-a-half storey building with side gable roof and centred front dormer;
- Red brick cladding and cedar shingle cladding;
- Red brick chimney;
- Concrete window sills;
- Large front verandah with tapered wooden pillars, brick plinths and wooden railings on the first floor;
- Fenestration of the windows and front door;
- The presence of multi-paned windows that reflect the style and pane division of the original windows; and
- Lakestone foundation above grade.

For the purpose of clarity, the cultural heritage value or interest and heritage attributes do not include:

- The frame stairwell addition on the south side of the house;
- The two-storey covered-porch wing on the west side of the house;
- The rear dormer; and
- The rear (west) wall of the original house.
