SCHEDULE “B” TO BY-LAW NO. 2024-0090

REASONS FOR DESIGNATION

Description of Property

The subject property is located along the north side of Bower Street in the community of Acton in the Town of Halton Hills. The existing two-and-a-half storey residential building is located adjacent to the roadway within an irregularly shaped parcel that extends to the north at the rear of the properties along Willow Street North.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

The property at 41 Bower Street has physical and design value as a vernacular Victorian building with Queen Anne influences. The original L-shaped, two-storey residential building is legible from the contemporary two-storey enclosed porch on the front elevation, which is sympathetic to the original structure, and rear one-storey brick addition. Although the original bargeboard and decorative wrap-around wooden porch have been lost over time, the original detailing of the building's exterior has remained extant. The exterior façade features detailed brick string courses at the first and second storeys, segmentally arched and round-arched window openings with brick hood moulds and stone sills, and a detailed brick chimney, demonstrating the influence of the Queen Anne Revival style, which was designed to reflect the success of its owners, and which was primarily prevalent in Ontario between 1870 and 1910.

The property at 41 Bower Street has historical and associative value due to its associations with several significant owners throughout the years including the Honourable David Henderson, Jeremiah Bell, Amos Mason, and Robert Algie. This property is one of three lots purchased by David Henderson from part of the original Adams farmstead. Henderson was a prominent local businessman, bank owner, and later significant politician and member of the King's Privy Council of Canada.

In addition to Henderson, the property has other significant local community and political connections. Local carpenter Jeremiah Bell owned the property between 1911 and 1923 and served as a local councillor in Acton. Prominent local businessman Amos Mason owned the property between the 1920s and 1960; Mason established the Mason Knitting Company, a significant local employer which later relocated to the former Beardmore warehouse known as the Hide House in 1938. Like Henderson, Mason was significantly involved in the community, serving with many different community groups and organizations. Mason was also a member of Council and became Acton's first mayor in 1950. In 1958, Mason was awarded Citizen of the Year by the local Chamber of Commerce for his work as a civic and community leader. Later in the 20th century, the property was owned by Robert Algie, who also served the community as part of Knox Presbyterian Church and as attendance officer for the local schools.

The property at 41 Bower Street has significant contextual value as the existing Victorian building, together with the neighbouring properties at the corner of Bower Street and Willow Street North in the community of Acton, help to define and maintain the late-nineteenth century and early-twentieth century development of this residential neighbourhood on the periphery of Acton's historic downtown. The property and existing residence are physically, functionally, visually, and historically linked to its surroundings in the community and has maintained its significant presence along the streetscape as captured in historical photography. The property is similar in scale and materials to the neighbouring properties and has not been identified as a landmark in the area.

Heritage Attributes

The identified heritage attributes of the property at 41 Bower Street that contribute to its physical and design value include:

- The setback, location, and orientation of the existing late 19th-century residential building along Bower Street in the community of Acton in the Town of Halton Hills;
- The scale, form, and massing of the two-and-a-half storey Victorian building with Queen Anne Revival influences, featuring a brick chimney and stone foundation;
- The materials, including the red brick exterior and architectural detailing, stone sills, and stone foundation;
- The front (southeast) elevation, including segmentally arched and round arched window openings with brick hood moulds centered beneath the front gable;
- The side (northeast) elevation, including segmentally arched and round arched window openings with brick hood moulds and small window opening centered beneath the gable at the upper storey; and,
- The side (southwest) elevation, including the paired segmentally arched windows (first storey) and rounded arched windows (second storey) featuring brick hood moulds and stone sills, and round arched window centered beneath the gable peak.

The identified heritage attributes of the property at 41 Bower Street that contribute to its historical and associative value include:

- The legibility of the existing property as a late 19th-century residential building along Bower Street in the community of Acton in the Town of Halton Hills.
