Schedule "A" to By-law 25-25

Description

The property is located on a residential side street within the core of the historic village of Hillsburgh, in the Town of Erin. It consists of a two-storey rectangular Italianate residence constructed in 1889.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

12 Orangeville Street is a representative example of the Italianate architectural style. The architectural style is expressed in the two-storey building through the L-shaped plan with a hip roof, wide overhanging eaves, dichromatic detailing on segmental arch windows and door opening with transom framed with brick voussoirs and surrounds which mimic the appearance of hoodmould. The balanced three-bay façade and decorative diamond quoins work to reinforce the Italianate architectural style.

12 Orangeville Street has an association with Charles James "C.J." McMillan, who was important to the development of the community of Hillsburgh. 12 Orangeville Street was built in 1889 as a residence for Charles James "C.J." McMillan and his family. As a local farmer and cattle buyer, McMillan began shipping potatoes from Hillsburgh to larger cities via rail in the late 19th century. Potatoes were relatively easy to grow in the Hillsburgh agricultural landscape and McMillan shipped his first load of around 200 bags of potatoes in 1881 to Toronto. By 1921, C.J.'s son, and then owner of the subject property, Hugh "Fred" McMillan, could ship 3,000 bags of potatoes a day. Potato farming was an important crop which supported the agricultural industry in and around the village of Hillsburgh during the late 19th and early 20th century.

12 Orangeville Street is important in supporting the 19th century and early 20th century character of the historic village of Hillsburgh. Several residential side streets were developed at the same time as the core and support the legibility and character of the historic village. The residential side streets are located off the main street (Trafalgar Road), the buildings are comprised of predominantly one to two-and-a-half storey residences, primarily brick construction, with modest setbacks. 12 Orangeville exhibits massing, style, decorative details consistent with the historic village character.
