Designation Statement and Description of Property

Location and Description of Property:

The property at 442 King Street East is located on the north side of King Street East, east of Central Park Boulevard North and west of Lasalle Court. The property includes a two-storey farmhouse built in the Georgian architectural style with Italianate influences. The exact construction date of the two-storey farmhouse cannot be determined; however, it was possibly built as early as 1859. According to land records, census data, historical maps, and country and city directories, it was extant by 1891.

Legal Description:

The property at 442 King Street East to be designated under Part IV of the Ontario Heritage Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. O. 18, as amended (the "Ontario Heritage Act"), is legally described as:

PIN 16324-0072 (LT) PT LT C1 SHEET 2 PL 335 OSHAWA AS IN D423709; CITY OF OSHAWA.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest:

442 King Street East has design value as a representative example of a farmhouse built in the Georgian architectural style with Italianate influences. The two-storey red brick building follows a box-like plan with a symmetrically balanced three-bay façade and side gable roof with overhanging eaves which are representative of Georgian architecture. The Italianate influences are expressed through the detailing found in the dichromatic brick work, ornate window treatments, and porch. The rhythmically placed segmental arch window and door openings have decorative hoodmould made of buff brick and the façade showcases a decorative cross-like buff brick pattern near the roofline and a triangular pattern outlining the gable ends on the side elevations. The one-storey heavily ornamented porch also expresses Italianate influences and showcases turned and carved woodwork, spindles in railing, decorative brackets, gingerbread trim, and a moulded architrave supported by square but chamfered wood posts.

442 King Street East is one of the oldest homes in the area and is associated with several families, specifically the Dickies, Pooles, Rogers, and the Drew family, most of whom were early settlers with multiple land holdings who predominantly worked as farmers in the local agricultural industry. It is unclear which owner the residence was constructed for, although it is likely that it was either built for John Dickie Junior, Robert and Elizabeth Poole, or possibly Benjamin Rogers between 1859 and 1891. A historical photo suggests that the subject property was an early farmstead located outside of the historic core of Oshawa. 442 King Street East served as the residence for the Drew family for over fifty years, from 1909 to 1961. Albert Victor Drew worked as a gardener for fifty years according to his death certificate and Albert Drew's son, George Drew, who also occupied the property, worked as a mechanic. The Drew family owned several properties in the area.

442 King Street East is important in defining the late 19th and early 20th century streetscape found along this section of King Street East. 442 King Street East is a visible remnant of a 19th century agricultural property which was subdivided into smaller lots as part of the growth and development of Oshawa in the early 20th century. The subject property is visibly different from its immediate surrounds in setback and style which makes it legible as an early farmhouse. The section of King Street East between Wilson Road and Oshawa Boulevard consists of a layered streetscape featuring predominantly residential buildings that range in date from the late 19th century to early 20th century. As one of the earliest buildings on the streetscape, the subject property characterizes the early development of the streetscape. The streetscape includes a variety of architectural styles with a strong representation of Arts and Crafts, Italianate and Neo-Classical buildings. Buildings are mostly one-and-a-half to three-storeys tall and include gable roofs, brick construction and ornamented façades. This section of King Street East is in proximity to the current historic downtown core of Oshawa and acts as a residential extension and mature neighbourhood extending from the historic commercial core.

On the basis of the cultural heritage value or interest outlined above, the subject building at 442 King Street East meets the criteria for designation under Part IV of the Ontario Heritage Act, in accordance with Ontario Regulation 569/22 subsection 1(2), specifically criteria 1, 4, and 7.
