Take notice that the Council of the Corporation of the City of Toronto, on the 26th day of January, 1989 decided to designate the lands and buildings known as 592 Sherbourne Street (Selby House).

Short Statement of Reasons for the Proposed Designation

The property at 592 Sherbourne Street is recommended for designation for architectural and historical reasons. Built in 1882 for Charles H. Gooderham, following the design of Toronto architect, David Roberts, the house is an excellent example of the Victorian picturesque, showing the influences of the Queen Anne style. Asymmetrical in design, the house is 2 1/2 storeys and is constructed of red brick. Important features include the fenestration arrangement, sun porches, entrance porch, gables and elaborate bargeboards. Other important features include the brick and stonework, front entrance, tall chimneys and dormer windows. Charles H. Gooderham, a son of the founder of Gooderham and Worts, was a prominent businessman in Toronto. The house at 592 Sherbourne Street is an important landmark in Toronto, particularly along Sherbourne Street, where in context with the neighbouring house at 582 Sherbourne Street, its presence recalls the street's history as a fashionable residential district.
