Sherman Cemetery

Description of Property

The Sherman Cemetery is an active municipally owned cemetery located at 19 Victoria Road (Memory Lane).

The legal description of the property is Part lot 15 Concession B on the River range in the former Township of Camden, in the Municipality of Chatham-Kent. (42.54532°N 81.96903°W)

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value and Interest

Historical/Associative (OHA Reg 9/06)

The Sherman Cemetery is of cultural value as an active public cemetery for the former Township of Camden and Thamesville.

Located on the original 1797 Sherman farm, the cemetery was established c. 1850 by David Sherman as a burial site for his family and other settlers.

The cemetery is part of the original 1796 Sherman farm. The location of the cemetery was the encampment site for the British Army during the night of October 4/5, 1813, immediately prior to the Battle of the Thames. The Sherman's barn, which survived until well into the 20th century, was used by the British as a field hospital to house sick soldiers prior to the battle.

Among those interred in the Sherman Cemetery are many war veterans from both Canada and the United States. These include

Lieutenant Thomas Shaw of the 1st Kent Militia who served in the War of 1812 and fought at the Battle of Longwoods and James Dunakey a Kentucky soldier who was in Col. Johnson's regiment during the Battle of the Thames.

The cemetery preserves a physical record of the people that helped establish and develop Thamesville and the surrounding area including names such as Secord, Ferguson, and Sherman itself. This provides us with a vast amount of insight into the lives, customs, values, and genealogy of this rural community.
