STATEMENT OF CULTURAL HERITAGE VALUE AND DESCRIPTION OF HERITAGE ATTRIBUTES

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value

281 Herkimer Street, containing the former Bank of Hamilton branch building, possesses cultural heritage value due to its connection with the financial growth of the City of Hamilton. The Bank of Hamilton was one of the most prominent and influential enterprises in Hamilton from 1872 until 1923, at which time the bank was amalgamated with the Canadian Bank of Commerce. The Bank of Hamilton branch buildings were erected not only in this city, but across the country, carrying the Hamilton name as far west as Vancouver. Designed by Hamilton architect, Gordon J. Hutton, in association with Paul Domville, in 1919 to 1920, the building at 281 Herkimer Street remains a prominent landmark at the corner of Locke and Herkimer Streets in a well-established residential neighbourhood. The one-storey brick building with hipped roof and classical detailing is a well-preserved example of Edwardian Classicism and retains almost all of its original architectural features.

Description of Heritage Attributes

All elevations and the hipped roof, including all four brick facades, the front and west entranceways, the round-headed window openings on three sides, together with the denticulated wood cornice on all sides, and the following specific building features:

North (Front) Elevation

- Decorative wood portico with columns, pilasters and segmental pediment, together with wrought iron light fixture
- Windows including the double-hung, 15-over-15 wood frame windows and the elliptical fan-light over the door
- Wood and glass front door with original hardware

West (Side) Elevation

- Windows, including the double-hung, 15-over-15 wood frame windows
- Iron canopy and wrought iron brackets

East (Side) Elevation

- Windows, including the double-hung, 15-over-15 wood frame windows
