REASONS FOR DESIGNATION OF THE WEAVER HOMESTEAD

The old Weaver home built around 1835 by Henry Spence, an excellent mason in the area stands to-day in the midst of a modern subdivision. The house is built in two sections; the rear portion a wood frame settlers cabin built around 1800, and the front portion built of brick by Spencer. Built in the simple Georgian style common to Upper Canada at the time, it is still in excellent condition to-day. An old brick scullery containing the well preserved remains of a cauldron, bread oven, well and an engraved iron plate dated in 1827 adjoins the cabin portion of the home.
