REASONS FOR DESIGNATION

The designation described herein has been made on historic and architectural grounds. Karl Mueller, an early paint manufacturer, had this two-and-a-half storey red brick Queen Anne home constructed during 1897-1898. The Queen Anne or "bric-a-brac" or "Free Classic" style, as it was called, was a picturesque style. The simple house of rectangular proportions was gone and asymmetry ruled the day.

The hallmarks of the Queen Anne style are evident on 23 Roland. Of particular interest is the full sized verandah, and a two-storey bay window to the side with art nouveau stained glass windows. An oval window dominates the attic storey while a small turret with "bottle bottom" window panes adds to the picturesque effect. 23 Roland appears slightly changed since its construction and is a unique example of the Queen Anne style in Kitchener.
