Description of Heritage Attributes

3448 Monck Road in Norland is known as the "Norland School" or "S.S.#1, Laxton". The shaped limestone structure was built circa 1908 to replace the original wooden school house. The building contains features that are worthy of preservation including brick vertical lintels over each exterior window and door; a hip style roof; a bell cupola and an original chimney. The building originally had a raised entrance feature that was lost in 1965; it is recommended that any future restorations include an attempt to restore the raised entrance feature.
