CARL BECK HOUSE - 83 FOX ST.

Reasons for Designation

This magnificent house was the home of one of the most prominent lumberman in not only our area but across southern Ontario. Carl Beck's influence stretched from Toronto in the south to Sudbury in the north.

Immigrating to Canada from Germany, Carl Beck arrived in Penetanguishene in 1865 almost penniless. He began his business career by delivering wood and soon had expanded his business into lumbering and wood products. At one point in time the C. Beck Manufacturing Company Limited stretched for over three quarters of a mile along the shore of Penetang Bay.

C. Beck also had business interests in the Penetang Midland Electric Street Railway, Light and Power Co., two stores and the Dominion Stove Foundry as well as others.

C. Beck also served his community as he served on the town council from 1889 - 1896 with the years 1892 and 1895 being those he served as Mayor. He also sponsored a hockey team each year, donated the land for the Presbyterian Cemetery, and donated the original curling rink to the town's Curling Club.

This Queen Anne Revival style home dominates the scene of a fair portion of Fox Street. The original slate roof, now in need of repair, gave this house an extra air of richness. A unique characteristic of this house is its recessed balcony on the second floor of the front facade. It lies behind the exterior wall face with an arch opening.

Another feature of note are the two joined type, brick chimneys which are offset to the north and south from the centre of the roof. The dormers on the high hipped roof have a gable roof with an overhang and add an extra decorative touch as does the spire which adorns the southwest corner of the building.

All windows have a cut stone lugsill but only a few have a more decorative arched head surround of brick.
