Reasons for Designation

The Dunn House is recommended for designation for architectural and historical reasons.

The one and one-half storey Ontario Classic patterned brick building is a typical example of Victorian Gingerbread, combining the elements of Italianate and Renaissance styles. The red brick is decorated with quoins and window surrounds of yellow brick.

On the north (front) facade, the gable roof has a centre gable containing a Romanesque window and bargeboards having a Victorian influence.

The front doorcase has a segmental transom divided by a single vertical muntin. The sidelights each have two vertical lights with moulded panel below. The four panel door is heavily moulded.

A one-storey gable-roofed veranda traverses the entire facade. The roof is supported by turned posts, and in turn supports a balcony below the centre gable. The decorative brackets on the posts are repeated in smaller scale along the moulded corners. The fascia below is decorated with fretwork and spindles.

The Dunn House is believed to have been built by John or Orrin Dunn, in 1876.
