SHORT STATEMENT OF THE REASONS FOR DESIGNATION

Clarkson-Barnett House, 1084 Feeley Court

The Clarkson-Barnett House was the home and farm of Warren Clarkson, one of the earliest settlers in Toronto Township, and the man after whom Clarkson is named. The main block of the house, with its gable roof and Neo-classical cornice returns, is believed to have been built between 1822-25. A rear kitchen wing connects with the spinning room and the original, but much earlier altered 1819 house, the earliest extant structure in Mississauga. The stone out-building is among the earliest structures of its type to survive in Mississauga.
