REASON FOR DESIGNATION

The full exterior and significant features of the interior of the former Wilton Wesleyan Methodist Church are recommended for designation for historical and architectural reasons. This church, built in 1873, is a fine example of the Gothic style carried out using local craftsmanship and materials. Interior renovations of about 1900 show continuation traditions in the building trades and express the important role of the church for its congregation.

The building was dedicated in February 1874 as a Wesleyan Methodist Church from 1925 to 1968, it served as a United Church. Although closed as a church in 1968, the building, now owned by the Wilton Women's Institute, continues to serve the area as an active meeting place and polling site during elections.

HISTORICAL SIGNIFICANCE

Churches were an important component in the formation and continuation of communities in Ernestown. The Wilton Wesleyan Methodist Church represents this role well.

When a half-acre of Lot 39, Concession 6, was purchased in 1873 from William and Elisha Ovens as the site for a new Methodist Church building, it joined portions of Lot 39 already owned by Wilton's Methodist congregation. Methodists of the area had been meeting in Wilton since 1834 and in 1840 had acquired land for a chapel and a burying ground. Their chapel, or church, was dedicated in December 1840. By 1873 there was also an explained parsonage lot and parsonage built during 1867/68 to replace one built in 1857.

Nearby on an acre of Lot 38 was the small stone Presbyterian Church with its burying ground. In later years, this Presbyterian congregation worshipped with the United congregation in the church built by the Methodists in 1873.

The new Wesleyan Methodist church was dedicated at services from February 4th to 8th 1874. The interior of the church was renovated in 1900. Upon the formation of the United Church of Canada, the church became the Wilton Emmanuel United Church. This historic church has its last service on July 1, 1968. Its congregation was amalgamated with that of Odessa United Church.

The Wilton church building was sold to the Wilton Women's Institute. The building is used as their meeting place and also serves as the local polling site during municipal, provincial, and federal elections.

The building has the further distinction of having been the convention site for organization of the Lennox and Addington Ladies Aid Society on October 16, 1923. This was the first county-wide Ladies Aid Society in Ontario, The Ladies Aid Society became the Women's Association in 1940 and in 1962, The United Church Women.

ARCHITECTURAL SIGNIFICANCE

The church was built by the prolific regional masons William and Hugh Saul. William and Hugh Saul came to Odessa around 1855; their first local contract was to build the grist mill there. Although their local residence became Camden East, their work in Ernestown in succeeding years included houses, commercial and public structures, and three churches.

The limestone church built in Wilton in 1873 for the Wesleyan Methodists is sixty (60) by thirty-eight (38) feet in dimension. The stone is described as being "blue limestone quarried near Camden East." The building is now distinguished by its buttressed tower topped by battlements joining decorative pinnacles. When originally built, the tower was topped by a steeple, but that was removed and the present details built early in the 1900's. The bell remains in its loft.

Other exterior features, such as the front entrance, window openings, and wall corner buttresses, express the Gothic style, felt to be the most suitable style for churches by congregations in Victorian times. The verges of the front of the church are decorated with wooden brackets typical of up-to-date building in the 1870's.

Leaded stained glass windows include those manufactured and installed by J. M. Hoosey of Kingston in 1873/74. At the front of the church is a memorial window depicting "Christ Blessing the Children" installed after 1907, in memory of Jeremiah Snider and his son K.T. Snider.

Mr. James Thompson of Wilton did the original interior woodwork. The interior retains a rear gallery closed with removable panel doors added in the 1900 renovation, woodwork decorated with painted graining, and a decorative pressed copper ceiling.
